Company Description:

Aldeyra Therapeutics, Inc. (<http://www.aldeyra.com/>) is an emerging biotech company focusing on orphan diseases, based in Burlington, MA.

Aldeyra Therapeutics Inc.

Rating: Buy

Two INDs Submitted

Investment Highlights:

- Two INDs Filed with FDA. Aldeyra Therapeutics announced this morning that an Investigational New Drug application (IND) to conduct Phase 2 clinical study of NS2 for the treatment of Sjögren-Larsson Syndrome (SLS) was submitted to the U.S. FDA on December 30, 2014. This follows a prior IND submission on December 16, 2014 to conduct Phase 2 clinical study of NS2 for the treatment of noninfectious anterior uveitis. Therefore, the firm has achieved its stated goal of filing two INDs for orphan indications by the end of 2014. NS2 is the firm's lead candidate designed to trap and allow for disposal of free aldehydes. We note that the FDA is supposed to notify the firm of any question or request within 30 days of the filing. Investors should be aware that Aldeyra's drug development can be done in a relatively short period of time with readily measurable objective endpoints, as the drug is applied topically to treat skin and eye disorders. In the wake of this update, we reiterate our Buy rating and 12-month price target of $35.00 per share.
- Potential Data Around Mid-2015. We note that the SLS and uveitis trials are expected to enroll 12 and 45 patients respectively. The aggregate cost of the trials is estimated to be approximately $5mm. We believe the firm is likely to report data from the SLS trial around mid-2015, and data from the acute anterior uveitis trial by end-2015. We remind investors that SLS has no FDA-approved therapies, and acute anterior uveitis is typically treated with steroids, which is associated with significant toxicity if used for a long term. We believe that NS2 could provide a meaningful advance in treatment for these disorders. NS2 for the SLS indication could potentially reach the market in 2016, with the acute anterior uveitis indication potentially on the market in 2017. Additionally, the firm has the potential to leverage its technology platform to develop therapeutics for more prevalent disorders, in our view.
- Cash Runway. Aldeyrahad $10.1mm in cash as of September 30, 2014, which should provide a runway through 2015. If positive data are reported from the forthcoming trials, Aldeyra may choose to raise additional capital in 2015 to carry on the future steps of drug development, in our view.

Price Target

Our 12-month price target is $35.00 per share.

Valuation Methodology

Given the fact that Aldeyra is currently unprofitable, we use a discounted cash flow-based approach to value the shares. Based on a comparables analysis, we believe that the stock is worth $35.00 per share, given our estimate of a $300 million risk-adjusted net present value (rNPV) for the firm's pipeline. This assumes that the shares trade in line with the comp group average enterprise value of $300 million and that the firm has roughly 9 million shares outstanding and ~$25 million in cash at the end of 2015.

Risk Factors

Issues that could prevent the achievement of our price objective include, but are not limited to, clinical, regulatory, competitive, reimbursement and financial risks. Drugs in clinical development may not advance due to inadequate safety, efficacy, or tolerability. Regulatory agencies may decline to approve regulatory submissions in a timely manner, or may not approve a drug candidate at all. The firm may require substantial funding to complete the clinical development of its candidates and establish commercial infrastructure, which could be dilutive to current shareholders. We expect competition for the company's drugs from several public and private companies developing pharmaceuticals. Future sales of the firm's drugs could depend upon reimbursement from private, as well as public, reimbursement agencies.
